GREEKS, IN DEFIANCE OF POWERS, PLAN TO RETURN CONSTANTINE TO THRONE

Interference Of France And Great Britain Is Resented By New Government; Venizelists May Set Up Republic In Smyrna

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 17.—The present indications are that the new Greek Government intends to defy the French and British Governments by requesting ex-King Constantine to reascend the throne.

This is made clear in a statement by M. Gounaris, telegraphed to New York by the Associated Press correspondent in Athens. M. Gounaris is quoted as saying:

"Ex-King Constantine is our rightful heir. We expect him back as soon as the plebiscite is held, and if the latter shows that the Greek people want him, I don't see why France and Britain should interfere."

M. Gounaris added that the Government would continue the foreign policy of M. Venizelos, and that he hoped to keep Smyrna by an amicable arrangement with the Turks.

New York, Nov. 17.—The Athens correspondent of the Associated Press telegraphs as follows: The forlorn hope of the Venizelists winning the elections by the Army vote is now apparently dissipated. There was a panic on the Bourse today, and the dollar doubled in value. The city is quiet and Parliament House is occupied by troops.

"A rumor is current that the Venizelist army may proclaim a republic at Smyrna.

"The present Regency has been accepted as legal by the Opposition, whose Cabinet will be temporary until a plebiscite has been held on the question of ex-King Constantine's return, and until the manner in which the outside world views the elections is known."

Athen, Nov. 17.—The Regent has declined to accept the resignation of M. Venizelos until the final voting of the Army is known. M. Venizelos does not believe that the result of the Army's vote will be so overwhelming as to lead him to withdraw his resignation.

REGENT RESIGNS

Athens, Nov. 18.—M. Rhallys, after taking the oath of office as Premier before the Regent, Admiral Coundouriotis, has secured the latter's resignation. The remaining members of the new Cabinet will be sworn in by Queen Olga. M. Venizelos has left for Nice on board the yacht Narcissus, which is escorted by a cruiser and two British destroyers.

Paris, Nov. 18.—The Petit Parisien publishes the following statement as having been made by M. Rhallys:

PREMIER DENIES CHARGES

"I deny most emphatically the pro-German tendencies which have been attributed to us. How could a people whose destiny has been so closely bound up with the cause of the Allies show itself pro-German after such efforts as Greece has made with them for the common victory?

"The anti-Venizelist majority in the Greek Parliament will not provoke any change of attitude in foreign policy."

Paris, Nov. 18.—The French press announces that the new Greek Cabinet is composed as follows:

NEW CABINET

President of the Council, Minister of Foreign Affairs and provisional Minister of Justice, M. Rhallys; Minister of War, M. Gounaris; Minister of Finance, M. Gallogeropoulos; Minister of Marine and provisional Minister of Food Supplies, M. Jean Rhallys; Minister of the Interior and provisional Minister of Communications, M. Tsaldaris; Minister of Education and provisional Minister of Public Assistance, M. Zaumis; Minister of National Economy and provisional Minister of Agriculture, M. Mavromichaelis

Athens, Nov. 16.—M. Rhallys was persuaded to form a Cabinet only after having first refused to do so. He has been Premier on three previous occasions, the last being in 1909.

The new Premier is a Royalist, and was known in earlier years as a strong supporter of friendly relations with Turkey.

ELECTION RESULT

Athens, Nov. 16.—The latest election results to hand give 118 seats to the Venizelists and 350 to the Constantinists. M. Venizelos himself and all his Ministers except two were defeated, and not a single Venizelist was returned for Macedonia and "Old Greece" except in Epirus and the Islands.

London, Nov. 16.—The result of the Greek elections, which were mainly fought on the issue whether ex-King Constantine should be restored to the throne, has amazingly upset all forecasts from Athens, which predicted an overwhelming victory for M. Venizelos.

Both the British and French press express the utmost surprise, while they greatly deplore this blow against the great patriot, founder of modern

Former President Of American Legion Is Coming Here

Preparations are being made for the entertainment here of Mr. Franklin d'Olier, former Commander of the American Legion, who, with Mrs. d'Olier, is expected to arrive in Shanghai Monday evening.

The General Ward Post of China of the Legion is arranging a tiffin in Mr. d'Olier's honor for next Wednesday at 12:20 p.m. at the Carlton Cafe, members of the Legion post and guests to be present. On Tuesday evening there will be a dinner dance at the Astor House in honor of Mr. and Mrs. d'Olier. Members of the legion, their guests and members of the American community will be invited to attend and those desirous of being present may notify Mr. H. E. Marsden, of the Standard Oil Company.

Mr. and Mrs. d'Olier are passing through Shanghai en route to Manila and South China ports. They are at present in Peking where last Thursday evening a supper in Mr. d'Olier's honor was given in the American Students mess, on which occasion plans for the formation of a Legion post in the capital were discussed. Mr. Condon of the American Legation is promoting the formation of the Peking chapter.

War Workers Form Local Relief Body

Twelve Women Who Served Overseas Organise For Activity Here

Twelve women who served overseas during the war have formed an organisation for the purpose of carrying on relief work in Shanghai and have elected Miss C. E. Thompson, a former Red Cross worker in France, as chairman.

The women met at the home of Mrs. A. P. Chase, 122 Dixwell Road, Thursday evening and formally launched the new organisation. An invitation will be extended to all women who served overseas, in Siberia or the Near East during the war to become members.

University Of Paris To Confer Degree On President Hsu

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 18.—The University of Paris, on the initiative of the Faculty of Letters, writes the Excelsior, has just decided to confer upon the President of the Chinese Republic, Hsu Hsih-chang, the degree of honorary doctor, the highest honorary distinction within its gift.

This distinction has, up to the present, been accorded to only six or seven persons in Europe or America. It is the first time that it will have been bestowed upon an Asiatic. The presentation ceremony which will take place in a few weeks in the great Amphitheatre of the Sorbonne will, therefore, be an historic event.

British And Americans Here Will Observe Joint Holiday

Britons To Pay Tribute To Memory Of Pioneers

Lord and Lady Rathoreenan, head of the English Pilgrim delegation from the Sulgrave Institute of England, who have arrived in New York. They are going to attend the tercentenary celebration in honor of the landing of the Pilgrims, which is to take place at Plymouth and Provincetown, Mass.

THE British and American communities of Shanghai will unite next week in a joint observance of the Thanksgiving holiday and of the tercentenary anniversary of the landing of the pilgrims at Plymouth, Massachusetts, according to announcement made yesterday. The service to be held will take place at The Cathedral on Thanksgiving day, next Thursday, at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

As the service is to be an Anglo-American observance addresses will be delivered by two speakers, the Rev. A. N. Roland, new pastor of the Union Church, and Dr. Luther Freeman, who has just assumed the pastorate of the Community Church.

SPECIAL MUSIC

All details of the program have not yet been worked out, but in connection with the special music to be provided a double quartet will sing. Mr. C. D. Glauque and Mrs. M. J. Cavanagh are assisting with the musical arrangements. The decorations have been placed in the hands of the American Woman's Club.

Mr. Mahlon F. Perkins, the American Consul - in - charge said yesterday that President Wilson's Thanksgiving proclamation had not yet been received, but he expressed the belief that it would be received at the consulate in time to be read at the service next Thursday. It is probable that Thanksgiving Day will be observed by Americans of the community with other events, but the committee that has had in hand arrangements for the official observance has concerned itself only with the service at the Cathedral.

SAILORS TO ATTEND

One detail in connection with the service is the announcement that it will be attended by a detachment of American sailors from American naval craft in the harbor and by the American Company of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps.

The committee that took charge of preparations for the observance of Thanksgiving Day is headed by Consul-in-charge Perkins, as Chairman and is composed of the following: Capt. T. A. Kearney, U. S. N., Maj. C. P. Holcomb, United States District Attorney, Dr. S. A. Ransom, President of the American Association of China, Mr. A. R. Hager of the American Chamber of Commerce, Mr. F. R. Sites, Mr. W. W. Bartlett, principal of the American School, Dr. J. B. Fearn, Mr. H. H. Cameron, Mr. C. W. Petitt, Mr. E. C. Stocker, Mr. H. B. Lane, Mr. J. B. Powell, Mr. S. P. Elliott, Mrs. Percy Bryant and Mrs. Charles S. Lobingier, President of the American Woman's Club.

As the observance in Shanghai is a joint observance of two anniversaries it will differ from the course that has been taken in the United States where the two holidays are to be observed separately. The Thanksgiving celebration in America will take place next Thursday and in accordance with a proclamation issued by President Wilson some weeks ago Americans in the States will observe the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims on December 21.

A special invitation is extended to members of the British as well as the American community to attend the service Thursday.

Constitution Of Danzig Is Framed By Council Of League Of Nations

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Nov. 18.—The Council of the League of Nations met here on Wednesday afternoon to consider the constitution of the Free City of Danzig. After having heard and discussed the report on the legal points raised at the last sitting by the Polish delegate and the representatives of Danzig, the Council definitively settled the text of the free city's constitution which will be made public after it has been communicated to the parties concerned.

Geneva, Nov. 18, (via Bordeaux and Koukaza).—The following communique of today's proceedings of the Assembly of the League of Nations has been issued:

M. MOTTA HONORED

At this morning's session of the League of Nations Assembly, on the proposal of Signor Tittoni, Italy, and the Venezuelan delegation, M. Motta, President of the Swiss Confederation was elected, by acclamation, honorary president of the Assembly.

The Assembly continued the discussion of the Report of the Council's work. M. Nansen, Norway, submitted a report on the repatriation of prisoners of war, the supervision of which was entrusted to him by the Council last year.

M. Nansen described the unheard of sufferings which 300,000 prisoners in Russia had had to bear for four years. He said that more than half of this number had been killed off by epidemics. Material and political difficulties had hindered repatriation.

RED CROSS AT WORK

The Red Cross had begun the work, but, M. Nansen remarked, the authority of the League of

PEKING ASKED TO DEFINE ITS FAMINE POLICY

Shanghai Relief Organisation Sends Message Asking For Statement

BROADENS SCOPE OF WORK

Advertising Club Presents Publicity Plan—Grants Of Grain Made

In a message to President Hsu that has been authorised by the executive body of the Shanghai famine relief organisation the request is made that a definite policy in connection with famine relief work be announced by the Peking Government.

The message points out that the utmost that can be done through voluntary subscriptions is to provide partial relief and for only a short period. It is emphasised that the charitable public, both Chinese and foreign, desire a clear statement from the Government as to what immediate steps it intends to take to cope with the present deplorable conditions. Both Chinese and foreigners are eagerly awaiting a definite pronouncement from Peking, the message makes plain; and immediate action by the Government is expected.

PUBLICITY WORK

At the recent meeting of the famine relief committee a plan to give the widest publicity to the acute needs of the famine sufferers was presented by the Advertising Club of China and it is thought that when this is brought into operation the task of collecting funds and supplies will receive substantial aid. To broaden the scope of the work being done it was decided at the meeting to proceed with the formation of branch committees to obtain funds from all over China and a committee with Bishop Graves as Chairman was appointed to carry out this purpose.

GRANTS MADE

At the same meeting a grant of $12,000 in grain was made to the London Mission Famine Relief Committee at Tsangchow, Chihli and also $60,000 worth of grain to the Hokienfu and Paotingfu areas in Chihli where joint committees of missionaries are in readiness to take charge of the work of distribution.

In addition to these grants it was decided to send 5,000 garments to the Honan Relief Committee at Kaifeng, 5,000 garments to the Tientsin Famine Relief Society and 2,434 garments donated in Shanghai to the Tientsin Famine Relief Society to be distributed at the discretion of that organisation.

ITALIANS WILL AID

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Nov. 16.—The Italian Minister has communicated to the Foreign Office the information that his government is amenable to the proposed increase of ten percent in customs revenue for famine purposes on condition that all the other powers involved also give their consent and with the same provisions regarding duration of the temporary measure and supervision of the funds thus raised which are made by the other powers.

The report that Italy gives her assent to the duty surcharge only on condition that China recognise Austrian bonds which have fallen into the hands of Italian investors is officially stated to be untrue.

Peking, Nov. 14.—Mrs. L. M. Gulick, chairman of the committee of American ladies in charge of the Thanksgiving Ball and Entertainment for the relief of famine sufferers, which will be held at the Grand Hotal de Pekin on the evening of November 25, announces the following list of patrons for the ball:

LIST OF PATRONS

Son Of Honan's Tuchun In Chains For Opium Deals

(Reuter's Service)

Hsuchowfu, Ku., Nov. 15.—Last week Chang Chi-chung, son of Honan's recent notorious Tuchun Chang Ching-yao, was arrested for selling and having in his possession large quantities of opium. He was taken from the hotel in chains and his three cartloads of baggage was seized. The amount of opium is said to be large, though exactly how great the quantity it hasn't been possbile to ascertain. The fallen officer is now prison and it is thought by the Chinese that he will be executed.

JAPAN OPPOSES NAVAL CONTEST WITH AMERICA

Bureaucrats Are Blamed By Nipponese For Unrest As To Pacific

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 19.—The Osaka Asahi states in an editorial that the United States and Japan must have a full and frank discussion, and arrive at a clear understanding immediately concerning their interests in China and Siberia, and the question of naval expansion. The last subject, it asserts, is most important.

Impartial observers, the Asahi states, are agreed that naval competition between America and Japan would be even more absurd than that between Great Britain and Germany before the war.

The naval policy of the United States, it says, is guided by a group of naval men, while that country's diplomacy is conducted by bureaucrats. Consequently American naval policy and diplomacy are inclined to be more imperialistic than democratic, and it is evidently their intention to crush Japan before she developes further. The majority of Americans, however, are convinced of the unwisdom of such a policy.

The Asahi urges that an unreserved understanding be reached in order to prevent ruinous competition and preserve a feeling of friendship between the two nations.

SITUATION DELICATE

London, Nov. 17.—The delicacy of the present relations between the United States and Japan in connection with Japanese immigration into California is evidenced by the statement of Mr. Hara, the Japanese Premier, that "the utmost care is necessary in order not to injure the friendship between the two countries."

Meanwhile Americans are greatly interested in the report of the Census Bureau, showing a great increase in the Japanese population of the Pacific Coast states since 1910, especially California, where there are now 70,000 Japanese compared with 41,000 in 1910.

CZECHS IN RIOT AGAINST GERMANS

Flags Raised In Bohemia And Statue Of Ex-Kaiser Is Overthrown

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 18.—The Czech population of Bohemia, exasperated by Germany and the attitude of the German representatives in Parliament, has begun forcibly to protest. Yesterday, demonstrators to the number of nearly two thousand invaded the old German theater, raised the Czech flag over it and demanded that performances there should henceforth be in the Czech language only.

They next broke in the door of the German casino threw a statue of William II. out of the window and hoisted a Czech flag. Other demonstrators notified the German paper Bohemia that it must cease publication. They then visited the Prager Tageblatt. The manager here succeeded in quieting them by having the Czech flag hoisted.

WILL HONOR FOCH

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 18.—The French press understands that the Grand Duchess of Luxemburg will extend her patronage to the ceremony at the Sorbonne in the course of which a work of art offered by the people of the Grand Duchy, is to be presented to Marshal Foch.

DRIVE JAPANESE OUT OF SIBERIA IS STAND TAKEN BY BOLSHEVISTS

Destroy Kappelists And Postpone Reply To Isome's Demands, Instructions Sent To Krasnoschekoff As Moscow Soviet Turns Attention To Far East

(Reuter's Service)

Vladivostok, Nov. 18.—Following the defeat of General Wrangel, the Moscow Soviet has seriously turned its attention to Siberia and has instructed Verhkne Udinsk to take the strongest measures to secure general recognition of the Bolshevik Far Eastern Government recently established at Chita.

Its orders as telegraphed to Krasnoschekoff are: firstly, to destroy the Kappelists at any cost; secondly, to postpone replying to Colonel Isome's demands, and thirdly, to secure the Vladivostok Government's recognition of the Chita Government or else to overthrow the former body.

Meanwhile, the Partisans are making fine capital out of the defeat of General Wrangel's army, and are persuading many of the peasants to vote with the Bolsheviks while the Chita Government, taking victory for granted, is issuing commands to Vladivostok. The Vladivostok Assembly is hesitating and has postponed its next meeting.

The outlook is full of dark possibilities.

London, Nov. 15.—A wireless despatch from Moscow reports that M. Tchitchern the Soviet Commissary for Foreign Affairs, has sent a message to the Chinese Foreign Minister, stating that in response to the request of the Chinese troops, Soviet troops will enter China to assist the Chinese against the Semenoff detachments who have entered Manchuria but will withdraw as soon as they have accomplished their task.

HEAVY RED FORCE

Harbin, November 15.—Ataman Semenoff's position is daily becoming more serious as according to the latest reports Krasnoschekoff prefers to settle the question by armed force and has declined all peace proposals made by Colonel Isome.

It is reported that the Red regular forces amount to 30,000 without counting the Partisans whose number is daily increasing, owing to mobilisations having been declared in all districts. Besides, reinforcements are coming down from Irkutsk and even Omsk.

The Commander of the Reds, Eyche, is now at Cloviannaia and is personally conducting the operations. The Reds intend to attack Semenoff's forces from the front and both flanks and are already concentrating considerable forces north of Borzia with the object of attacking Matzievsky station and cutting Semenoff's communications.

SHORT OF MUNITIONS

Although the forces of the anti-Red army only amounts to about 15,000 men, it is believed that they will make a good stand if the command succeeds in supplying them with a sufficient quantity of munitions, of which they are now somewhat short.

Harbin, Nov. 15.—According to Radio reports from Chita, where the Verhkne Udinsk group headed by Krasnoschekoff are practically controlling the situation, as the moderate socialists are powerless and unable to oppose the newcomers, a political secret service department has been organised there by Nikiforoff who has already arrested some officers suspected of attempting an anti-Bolshevik plot.

Great hope was placed upon the interference of the Vladivostok delegation which was opposed to the creation of Krasnoschekoff's Cabinet and demanded the immediate summoning of a Constituent assembly. These hopes however proved to be futile, as apparently the delegation upon arriving to Chita fell under the spell of Krasnoschekoff and the other communists.

ATTITUDE OF JAPAN

Harbin, Nov. 15.—There is a great deal of talk here about the possibility of a change in Japan's attitude in Siberia. It is said that the change will be the result of America's alleged attempt to secure concessions in Siberia through Mr. Vanderlip.

Harbin, Nov. 15.—The following information has been received here concerning the organisation of the Siberian Co-operative Societies.

Although in Bolshevik Russia the co-operative societies are entirely in the hands of the Reds, the co-operatives in the non-Bolshevik portions of Eastern Siberia have hitherto largely been under the control of business men who were not interested in politics.

Now, however, every effort is being made by the Bolsheviks to get control of the remaining co-operative societies by means of appointing communists as controllers of their various branches. A man significantly named Trotsky has succeeded in getting himself placed at the head of the Siberian

Coolie Taken To Die At Door Of Home Of His Alleged Slayer

Since November 8 Pau Li-pau, who was a coolie employed in the Wai Gai Wata No. 9 Mill on Markham Road, had been seriously ill at his home in Chapei. On that date, so he told his parents when he returned home, he had been assaulted by one Lung Dzung-tsang, a foreman in the mill.

Thursday afternoon Pau's condition appeared to be growing rapidly worse and with the assistance of neighbors, his parents had him placed upon a shutter and began a pilgrimage from the home in Chapei to the Gordon Road district of the Settlement, where the foreman lives. Arriving at the latter's house, they deposited the sick man at the entrance way.

At the same time a cousin of Pau's went to the Gordon Road police station and reported to the sergeant on duty what had been done. As he was explaining the case a Chinese Constable entered to report that Pau had died. His parents, the C. P. C. reported, were creating a disturbance.

Police investigation revealed that Lung had disappeared. It was said that he fled out by the rear entrance of his home when the sick man was placed at his front doorstep.

Pau's body was sent to the mortuary and yesterday an inquest was held. Testimony regarding the assault was given by two witnesses and an autopsy was ordered by the court. If the examination develops facts to warrant it a criminal charge will be placed against the foreman.

Hungarians Refuse To Allow Premier To Resign Position

(Reuter's Service)

Budapest, Nov. 18.—The resignation of the Premier, Count Teleki, tendered following the last Parliamentary formalities for the ratification of the Treaty of Trianon, was refused by the Regent of Hungary. Count Teleki then informed the Hungarian Parliament, amid applause, that his services would remain at its disposal.

AMERICAN RELIEF PARTY DUE IN PEKING MONDAY

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, Nov. 19.—The American Civilian Relief Party under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Magruder of the American Legation Guards today arrived in Udde, a station half way between Urga and Kalgan, en route to Peking.

The party has rescued two Americans named Mills and Maclaughlin, one Englishman named Miles and a Russian baron named Fitinghoff together with their families who are due to arrive in the Capital Monday.

Six Children Perish In Panic In Cinema

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Nov. 15.—Six children were trampled to death and ten injured in a panic caused by a shout of "Fire" at a cinema theater here last evening. The two proprietors have been arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

Co-operatives, and he has appointed a communist called Prigarin as Manager of the Eastern branch.

These schemes are being directed from Chita and are influenced by the Moscow Government.

BRITISH NAVY NEUTRAL

London, Nov. 15.—The Admiralty states that the British naval forces in the Black Sea have been given orders to observe strict neutrality, and that they are only carrying out their normal functions of police work.

London, Nov. 15.—The latest telegrams from Constantinople state that the Bolsheviks are giving no quarter to General Wrangel's forces, and that a complete evacuation of the Crimea has been decided on. The Reds' success is stated to be largely due to the use of poison gas. They admit a loss of thirty thousand killed.

It is understood that the whole staff of Lady Muriel Paget's Relief Mission to the Crimea, comprising women doctors, nurses and sisters, have reached Constantinople safely.

London, Nov. 17.—The arrival of Gen. Wrangel at Constantinople is confirmed from Paris.

A wireless message from Moscow shows that the Bolsheviks are gloating over the defeat of Wrangel. It says:

"The outstanding bands of scabs commanded by Wrangel and others must be finally destroyed." It also declares that "the English bourgeoisie will find this an opportune moment for concluding a trade agreement."

TRADE IN RUSSIA

London, Nov. 17.—The question of resuming trade with Russia was discussed at a Cabinet meeting today, but no decision was reached.

It is understood that Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Ponar Law advocated an early resumption, but were met by certain opposition from Lord Curzon, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Chamberlain on the question of Russia's attitude towards the small republics in the Middle East.

It was decided to confer with M. Krassin, who will be asked what guarantees he can give that the propaganda campaign in England will cease.

REDS EXTEND OFFENSIVE

London, Nov. 17.—The Bolshevists, having disposed of Gen. Wrangel, appear to be well on the way to finish Gen. Petlura's army of Ukrainians, which has been causing them a great deal of annoyance since peace was concluded with Poland.

A despatch from the Warsaw Correspondent of the Associated Press to New York reports that the Ukrainians have evacuated Kieff and other towns, and are fleeing before the Reds, whose cavalry has broken through the Ukrainian lines at various points. The Ukrainians are suffering from lack of ammunition.

PEREKOP NOT ATTACKED

London, Nov. 15.—Contrary to all expectation, the Bolsheviki did not storm Perekop, but by an unexpected ruse their cavalry outflanked General Wrangel's army. The Bolsheviki, favored by a hard frost, crossed the so-called Putrid Sea and attacked General Wrangel from the rear, leading to a rapid and irremediable collapse.

General Wrangel personally commanded the remnants of his army against 170,000 Bolsheviki, commanded by Trotsky himself.

The Bolshevik success, following the peace with Poland and other western border States, establishes the Soviet's power throughout the remaining position of the former Russian Empire.

C. Ho, Assistant Director-General of the Kinhan Railway and Secretary to the President.

EXPECT BIG RETURNS

No entertainment has ever had as impressive a list of patrons as that obtained for the Thanksgiving Famine Relief Ball; and, if the good wishes of the powers-that-be can insure success, this ball will be the biggest, the best and the most charitably profitable entertainment ever held in Peking or, indeed, anywhere in North China.

The committee of American ladies in charge of the entertainment are Mrs. L. M. Gulick, of the American Legation Guard, who is the chairman and to whom all inquiries should be addressed; Mrs. C. T. Hutchins and Mrs. Ray Atherton, of the American Legation, and Mrs. C. H. Minor. Many other residents of Peking and Tientsin are giving their time and their services to this committee, and every one is pulling together to make the evening of November 25 Peking's biggest and best ever.

NINGPO CAMPAIGN

(China Press Correspondence)

Ningpo, November 13.—The Citizens' Famine Relief Committee ended its first campaign this week and reports a net amount over and above the expenses of the campaign of Mex. $121,404. This does not include many subscriptions which have already been sent through business firms, the Customs, and through the local officials of the City; also there have been many individuals and schools which have sent their subscriptions through friends in Shanghai or in the North, thus raising the total from Ningpo very much above the amount gotten through the local Committee's campaign. There are also many organisations yet to be heard from, churches throughout the country districts, local clubs, etc.

UNIQUE PROGRAM

This afternoon in the large theater near the railway station the Woman's Benefit Club of the North Bank gave a Benefit Entertainment which was unique in its character. The program consisted of drills and exercises and songs by the Baptist Girls' School, the Presbyterian Girls' School, three different kindergartens in the city, and songs by a chorus of young men and women. The amount from this entertainment has not yet been reported but it is hoped that it will be about $500.00.

COMMITTEE CHANGES

At a meeting of the Famine Relief Committee yesterday it was decided that six-tenths of the funds raised should go to the sufferers in the North and four-tenths to those around Ningpo and in Chekiang province.

It was also decided to reduce the number of the Committee to seven, the large committee to meet about once a month as long as the need exists.

CONCERT AT NANKING

Nanking, November 15.—To raise the North China Famine Relief fund the girl and boy students of the Nanking Teachers' College, held a dramatic and musical entertainment in the College Assembly Hall on Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon November 12, 13 and 14. The program was as follows:

More than $1,500 including the amount obtained from the auction of flags embroidered by the girl students was raised from this concert. It is reported that the citizens were so greatly interested in the concert that they will ask the students to have two more performances.

Shipping Sea Sled To Hankow Wednesday

The "hydroglisseur" or hydroslide, to be tested on the upper Yangtsze River by a French-Chinese company which plans a regular service between Ichang, Chungking and Chengtu, will be shipped to Hankow next Wednesday on the Waishing of the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company.

The shallow-water craft driven by an airplane propeller will make the trip up the Yangtsze from Hankow under its own power.

Service Company's Inertia Holds Back Development In Frenchtown, Says Writer

Article In L'Echo De Chine States Lack Of Tramway Facilities Keeps Settlement From Expanding; Huge Profits Netted

Charging the French public service company with seriously retarding the normal growth of the French Concession by inexcusably refusing to make extensions in the service, Mr. Albert Chapeaux, in the third of a series of articles appearing in L'Echo de Chine, yesterday further discussed in detail the differences which have arisen between the company and the French Municipal Council. The text of the article follows:

HERE ARE THE FIGURES

The official statistics published show that the present number of passengers per car per year varied as follows:

1910	225,400
1911	262,000
1912	385,000
1913	445,000
1914	323,000
1915	330,000
1916	384,000
1917	443,000
1918	493,000
1919	610,000
1920	667,000

It can be seen that the cars of the French Company are overcrowded, for in 1920 in the International Settlement the number of passengers per car was 500,000 as compared to the 667,000 noted in the figures for the French Concession. In other words the street cars of the French Concession carry 35 percent more passengers than do the trams in the International Settlement.

We have previously noted that the Shanghai Municipal Council declared that the total of 500,000 was out of proportion to the number of cars running and compelled the Shanghai Construction Company, Ltd., to increase its rolling stock.

McCOLL'S REPORT

The report of Mr. D. McColl published in September of 1917, shows that in Glasgow, Manchester, Birmingham and Liverpool the number traveling in street cars is far less than the totals shown in the figures for the Shanghai International Settlement.

The report shows an average of 2.5 passengers in England against four for Shanghai. This means a maximum of 450,000 passengers per car per year. These figures are for 1916.

In 1918, two years ago, the figures for the French Concession show a greater number traveling. This shows how passengers traveling on the French Tramway Company lines are inconvenienced.

EXPANSION NEEDED

Actually 40 percent more persons rode on the French Tramway and to our knowledge the company has made no move toward expansion; it has ordered no new cars. The inertia of the company not only shows itself through the alarming lack of cars, the comfort of passengers seeming to be the least important item to the company but also by:

(1)—The failure to establish new routes which would relieve the congestion on existing lines and facilitate travel and growth in the outlying districts, which would be very much more populated if the extension of transportation facilities reasonably followed in the wake of the Concession's growth.

(2)—The bad condition of the streets used by the company, although the Municipal Council undertakes part of the expense of upkeep.

(3)—Advised economies of the company which depicts its general attitude have been severely criticised by the public, whose many petitions have been justified.

We are forced to admit that the residents of the French Concession of Shanghai are less fortunate than their immediate neighbors in the International Settlement, due to the attitude and administration of the public utilities corporation of the French Concession.

MUNICIPALITY'S OBJECTIONS

The growth of the French Concession acutely suffers from this state of affairs. Its development has been retarded.

The Municipal Council, representing the best interests of the residents of the Concession, could not remain indifferent to this situation.

Since 1913 the Council has been negotiating with the company urging the adoption in the French Concession of tariffs and ideas in vogue in the International Settlement. The company made known its opposition and the case was badly presented at Paris where Shanghai conditions are generally ignored and these negotiations were not followed by the results expected.

In 1914 and 1916 the French authorities were engrossed with the extension of various installations of the company. This company continually avoided the suggested improvements, giving as a reason the difficulties arising from the war.

We note in passing that these difficulties, which were the same for enterprises in the French Concession and International Settlement, did not prevent the International Settlement company from carrying out extensive expansions and completing a program of other extensions.

It is therefore not exact to say that the war had such a retarding effect in Shanghai for we know, on the other hand, that the Belgians inaugurated a new enterprise in Tientsin.

RESUME NEGOTIATIONS

In 1917 the French authorities again actively resumed negotiations with the company, as much for uniformity of tariffs as for extensions by the company. The company evaded the extension by a bold step, in the form of legal action taken against the Council.

The company not only refused to accede to the Council's demands but even increased their rates for water, electricity and tram travel.

The inertia and ill will of the company were confirmed and evidenced again last winter while negotiations were going on with the special representative of the Administrative Council of Paris. These negotiations proved definitely to the Municipal Council that the Company absolutely refused to effect fair adjustment of the demands for uniformity of tariffs based on those of the International Settlement. And they did not feel obliged to proceed with the improvements absolutely indispensable for the betterment of the tramway service.

The company has not been satisfied with the magnificent increase in its business, the receipts having increased from Taels 288,847 in 1910 to Taels 956,258 in 1919; that is to say they were more than tripled in the ten years. These impressive profits not only resulted from the increase in business for the company has been singularly fortunate because of the high exchange.

REVENUE EQUALS CAPITAL

It is in fact rare to see a company with a capital of Francs 8,000,000 do business to the extent of Francs 19,000,000. Taking the statistics published annually by the Electricity Department of the Shanghai Municipal Council as a basis, one can suppose that the profits are from 35 to 40 percent of the receipts, say Francs 7,000,000, which means that the company does not appreciate the value of a revenue equal to its capital, and this without risk or speculation, since the company enjoys a monopoly.

The company, not content with the increase in its business, claims to reduce its charges and to obtain from the Municipal Council various advantages and naturally negotiations on this point were immediately opposed by the French authorities who were indignant at the attitude of the company's special representative.

In addition these negotiations manifested the mental difference existing between Paris and Shanghai where business conditions and the process of evolution are totally different.

The administrative council of the company which ignored the contingencies of Shanghai intend to direct this affair from Paris. This is another complication and by no means the least important. Instead of righting itself this tendency to direct local matters from a great distance added additional difficulty. In 1916 the Municipal Council had already protested against this deplorable state of affairs, which is contrary to the terms of the charter granted by the Concession. At the close of negotiations last January and from recent correspondence the situation has become intolerable.

In August last the Municipal Council again reverted to this question by demanding that the company submit its plan of proposed extension for supplying water, and electricity and increasing tramway service. The Company, no longer able to evade the order, communicated the desired information at the end of September.

The next in the series of articles will be printed in the Echo de Chine tomorrow morning.

Nations permitted of more extensive and effective action. Both Germany and the Soviets had facilitated repatriation. International credit had made it possible to charter fifteen vessels for the repatriation of nearly 200,000 prisoners via the Baltic. The American Red Cross and Y.M.C.A. had helped at Vladivostok. The question of the repatriation of prisoners in Turkestan, the Caucasus and South Russia was at present under examination; that of the repatriation of Greek and Bulgarian prisoners had already been arranged.

SUFFERING IN RUSSIA

M. Nansen declared that he had never seen such terrible sufferings as those of the prisoners of war in Russia. "It is the duty of the League of Nations," he concluded, "to settle such questions and above all, to, prevent wars."

M. Ador, Switzerland, thanked M. Nansen and promised that the collaboration of the Red Cross and the League of Nations would continue. The Colombian delegation also congratulated M. Nansen.

CALLS FOR PUBLICITY

Geneva, Nov. 17.—Lord Robert Cecil, in the course of his striking speech, which was the outstanding feature of today's sitting of the League of Nations Assembly, expressed the hope that the League would act quickly in regard to the mandates. He also urged the fullest publicity should be given to the proceedings of the Council, and submitted a motion in this direction.

Dealing with Armenia, Lord Robert declared that there did not exist in the history of the world a tragedy more pathetic than that of Armenia.

"The League of Nations must save Armenia," he declared, "and cannot separate without coming to a decision on the question."

He proceeded to criticise the action of Poland, who, he said, after submitting the question of Lithuania to the Council, had committed a hostile act within two months of the period laid down by the Convention, during which the interested parties must abstain from hostilities.

He concluded by affirming that the League had begun well, and must pursue without fear its one and only policy of reconciling the nations.

The delegated representing the British Empire on the Mandates and Armaments Committee include Mr. Herbert Fisher (Great Britain), Lord Robert Cecil (South Africa) and Sir William S. Meyer (India).

FINANCIAL COMMITTEE

London, Nov. 17.—Pending the general economic and financial conference of the League of Nations, to be held next year, the Council of the League has decided to form immediately a provisional financial and economic consultative committee of twenty members, to advise the Council as regards (1) the putting into practice of the recommendations of the Brussels Conference, (2) the financial and economic problems which the Council may submit and (3) the preparation of the agenda of the 1921 conference, first-named.

Among the ten members appointed to the financial section of the new committee are Mr. Keugomori (Japan) and Mr. Henry Strakosch (South Africa).

OAK FLOORING AND PANELLING

Stand The Hard Test Of Time

When installing any other wood than Oak for flooring or panelling, one item must be taken into consideration in counting the cost, and that is the fact that in a very few years the floor will have to be renewed. With Oak, however, at the end of a quarter of a century, the flooring and panelling is not only more pleasing to the eye than when new, but is also worth a great deal more.

WE SUPPLY OAK F OR FLOORIG, WAISCOTING, PANELLING, ETC., ETC., KILN-DRIED AND QUALITY GUARANTEED

We give all orders personal attention. After you have placed your order with us, the flooring will be laid and all work carried out under the personal supervision of a foreign expert of the Company. This supervision costs you nothing and we prefer to do this for you.

Insist that all lumber for flooring and panelling for interior work bears the "Three Pines" Trade Mark, and the letters "KD" signifying kiln-dried, thus ensuring its perfect quality, and suitability for the severe climatic conditions of China.

WANG I-TANG IN SHANGHAI, SAYS PEKING CHINESE

Ex-Northern Peace Delegate Is Believed To Be In Alliance With Tang

BOTH REPORTS DENIED

Two Days' Search Fails To Confirm Intelligence Circulated Here

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, November 19.—The Chinese of the capital are much concerned at the escape of Little Hsu. It is hinted that an intrigue is on foot for the restoration to power of Tuan Chi-jui, for which Hsu's escape and Wang I-tang's activities at Shanghai are intended to be preliminaries.

It is pointed out by responsible Chinese that the present break in American foreign policy and the financial stringency in Peking afford an opportunity which the Anfuites are not likely to ignore through the winter.

That Wang I-tang has effected some sort of alliance with Tang Shao-yi, and is supported by a sinister influence interested in preventing unification, is implicitly believed among the Chinese.

JAPANESE CRITICISED

The Chen Pao again contends that Hsu was allowed to escape, and comments caustically on the "amusing explanation."

Quoting Mr. Obata's statements after the Anfu leaders took refuse in the Japanese Legation, the Ching Pao contends that the whole incident throws a distinct slight on both the Chinese Government and the Diplomatic Corps.

The paper points out that China is in the throes of reorganisation, following upon internal strife, and that friendly Powers sympathise with China's difficulties, and are endeavoring to assist in the process of reorganisation.

"One only concludes," adds the Ching Pao, "that the Japanese point of view regarding the situation in China differs completely from those of all other Powers."

WANG I-TANG NOT HERE

Wang I-tang is not in Shanghai it is declared here. Efforts have been made by various news agencies and newspapers in Shanghai to confirm the Peking report carried by Reuter's two days ago on the arrival of Wang with Nishihara at Shanghai, but up to the present all the influential Chinese leaders in Shanghai deny that there is truth in this report.

The allegation that Wang has effected some sort of alliance with Mr. Tang Shao-yi is also unfounded it is said. Mr. Tang had not seen or communicated with War since the latter left here for Japan.

When seen by a CHINA PRESS representative yesterday, Mr. Tang expressed the belief that both Wang and Little Hsu are now refugees in Tsingtao, where a large number of Anfuites are living in exile.

Little Hsu is now a refugee in Tsingtao, according to information received here yesterday. The Peking Government has offered the sum of $83,000 for the capture of the former Anfu militarist.

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs will now demand the handing over the eight other Anfuites taking refuge in the Japanese Legation quarters.

In reply to the note of the Japanese Minister Obata, the Ministry will hold the Japanese Legation responsible for any disturbance that may be created by Little Hsu after his liberation.

"China can not but feel that the legation was a party to Hsu's escape," the Ministry advises the Japanese envoy.

A Tientsin telegram states that Little Hsu escaped by way of Tientsin and went to Taku where he boarded one of the steamers, the destination of which is unknown. He wore a Japanese uniform.

Real Foot Comfort and How to Obtain It

who says: "Any foot troubles can be removed by simply dissolving a tablespoonful of Reudel Bath saltrates in a foot bath of hot water and immersing the feet for about 15 to 20 minutes in the medicated solution thus formed. All pain, smarting, burning, itching, stinging, etc., is drawn right out, and regular use will ensure the absolute eradication of such things as callouses, corns, bunions, etc."

The world's champion boxers, runners, walkers, and leaders of any form of sport in which foot fitness is an absolute necessity, endorse what Georges Capentier says. Reudel Bath Saltrates can be obtained from any chemist at small cost, and a tablespoonful added to a foot bath of hot water forms a medicated oxygenated solution which will quickly banish all foot troubles.

NOTE.—Messrs. A. S. Watson and Co. of 16 Nanking Road, Shanghai, are at present in possession of large supplies of Reudel Bath Saltrates.

MANY STRONG TEAMS WILL TAKE TO FOOTBALL FIELDS TODAY, WEATHER PERMITTING

Scheduled Struggles Should Give Good Line On Ability Of Various Elevens—Supplementary Lists Of Players—Nanyang Will Oppose Fuh-tan Today; School Tomorrow

By "Whistle"

As reported in these columns yesterday morning, this will be a great day for soccer football in Shanghai, providing only that Mr. Jupiter Pluvius decides to turn off his faucets, or switch his showers to some other locality, leaving the various playing grounds of the Settlement in some sort of condition for representative contests.

In addition to the games already reported on the schedules of the afternoon is a stirring set-to between Nanyang College and Fuh-tan University, booked to start on the Nanyang grounds at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon. These two elevens are said to be in the pink of condition for a fast contest and a close score should result. Mr. H. G. Boyling will referee.

Tomorrow afternoon, also on the Nanyang grounds, the representatives of that institution will line-up against the Shanghai Public Schools eleven, kick-off at 2:45 o'clock. This should be another good game and the chosen referee, Mr. A. H. Leslie, may be counted upon to keep the players going at top speed.

B. A. T. LINE-UP

The following team has been selected to represent the B. A. T. F. C. in its Second Division struggle against the Shanghai Football Club II, on the latter's grounds, beginning at 2:00 o'clock sharp:

Messrs. Kibble, Kableitz, Smedley, Ellis, Lundon, Witschi Boyde, Falton, Norris, Brockett, Powson. Reserves: Messrs. Canda and Britto. Linesman: E. F. Thorpe.

Shanghai F. C. II will oppose this combination with the following players, who are requested to be on hand in ample time to start the game promptly:

THE SHANGHAI TEAM

In the game against the "Recs," on the latter's ground, the Shanghai F. C. Firsts will line up as follows:

Messrs. A. McLean, W. J. Brown, J. R. Weeks, (Captain) H. T. Bennett, W. B. Glover, M. Seredkin, A. P. Goldman, B. Lawrie Smith, A. K. F. Jensen, L. J. Coulcher and A. H. Leslie. Reserve: Lt. Cutsforth; Linesman, S. Starling. Referee: A. C. R. Fulton.

The Customs, for their game with the Public Schools at Hongkew Park, will present the following front:

Messrs. Steventon, Maggs and Davis; Dallow, Stevens and Coxall; Borras, Lovelock, Barnes, Ogden and Stacey. Reserves: McLaren, Crisp and Burge.

The "Rec" Firsts and Seconds, for their games against the Shanghai F. C. Firsts and St. Xavier's Seconds, respectively, appear to have two fine teams. The Firsts will line up as follows:

Messrs. J. Canda: L. P. Quincey and B. H. Smith; C. J. Smith, E. F. Mears and S. Emamooden; W. Archer, E. J. Cooke, A. Sofoulis, T. W. R. Wilson, (Captain) and W. T. Manley.

'REC' SECONDS READY

The Seconds will have the following players on hand at Hongkew Park; their game beginning at 2:45 o'clock:

Messrs. G. F. Powers; F. C. H. Ollerdessen and J. Xavier (Capt.); E. Gifford, J. Mahon and G. E. Marshall; G. Johannson, F. Madar, C. Sofoulis, G. A. Drairsoldt, and T. Emamooden. Reserves: W. H. Ferris, G. Green, R. Caminada.

For their initial contest of the season, against the Police, (Seconds) to be contested on the Markham Road grounds, beginning at 2:45 o'clock, the International F. C. will present a line-up as follows:

Messrs. I. Cohen, J. Collaco (Vice Captain) T. Schneider, (Captain) A. Kock, N. Callaco, A. Raskin, V. Chupraeff, L. T. Way, H. Corte Real. E. Howe, and B. Maitland. Reserves: E. Kock, O. Kahn, P. Brown and S. Ignatieff.

W'WORKS V. ENGINEERS

The Marine Engineers eleven, which made such a splendid showing (1-0) against St. Xavier's last Saturday, is scheduled to meet the Waterworks team on the Shanghai F. C. grounds promptly at 2 o'clock, and to play 30 minutes each way.

The following will represent the Engineers:

Messrs. G. F. Powers; Mad. Doughill and L. Skelton; R. Tomlinson, E. Soppitt and C. Campbell; G. Watson, H. Adam, W. Archer, (Capt.) A. Russell and Huggert.

Reserve: R. Dorrance.

Linesman: E. B. Brosdnick.

'Golf Architect' From Britain To Plan U.S. Courses

Captain A. C. Allison, a golf course architect of wide experience in Great Britain, has arrived in New York, having been called into consultation on the constuction of several courses in the Middle West.

He is a member of the firm which includes H. S. Colt, architect of the Pine Valley course, near Philadelphia, one of the socalled "radical" links, and Dr. A. Mackenzie, both of whom are coming to this country in the Spring.

Dr. Mackenzie, who gave up a career in medicine for golf course architecture, is one of the best know course experts in England.

During the war he was commissioned in the Royal Engineers as an expert in constructing gun emplacements, a speciality for which he was exceptionally well qualified, it was said, because of his wide experience and his experiments in golf course construction.

Captain Allison will go to Detroit where his firm has a contract for a new course, and later will devote some time for work in the Chicago district.

LADIES' HOCKEY TODAY

Weather permitting, there will be a practice match of the Ladies Hockey Club today at 2:45 o'clock sharp, on the Public Recreation Ground.

HOPPE, WIZARD OF BILLIARDS, AMAZES CROWD

Defeats Peterson With Ease, In Three And Four Innings Respectively

Willie Hoppe, world's sensational balkline champion, recently won both matches from Charley Peterson, a fancy-shot player, with consummate ease, taking the afternoon block by a score of 250 to 73 and the evening session, 250 to 54.

It was not so much the fact that he won a double-header, but the manner of winning, that demanded the attention of billiard enthusiasts. Since the start of the series of exhibitions the champion has been making excellent averages, and it had generally been figured that he was traveling at top speed.

But anything that he had previously accomplished was overshadowed on this occasion when he made a total of 250 points in three innings, averaging 83 1-3.

GREAT BILLIARDS

In making this average, Hoppe played some of the best balkline billiards that has even been seen. He was in excellent stroke and exercised complete mastery of the ivories.

He ran out with runs of 66, 85 and 99 and in each of his innings it was his nursing that was the predominating feature.

In each instance he gathered the balls quickly after stepping to the table and kept them together along the line. He clicked off his points with surprising speed even for Hoppe, who is famed for his fast work with the cue.

The delicacy of his stroke had never been emphasised to a greater degree. So accurate was his work that it seemed that he could have continued indefinitely without missing.

SELDOM SEPARATED

It was seldom during these runs that he permitted the balls to separate. Naturally, his second ball playing had to be deadly accurate, and George Sutton, the Chicago veteran, known as the "nurse king," never gave a greater exhibition of finely executed second ball play than did Hoppe.

In the evening the champion's work was almost a repetition of his excellent performance of the afternoon. He averaged 62½, requiring just one more inning to complete his string of 250 points than he had consumed in the afternoon. In the evening he ran out as follows: 87, 114, 4, 45. In his run of 114 he was compelled to make three extremely difficult masses, the odds against any one of which might easily have been quoted at 50 to 1.

A FAST 'STUNT'

Immediately following the evening's match Peterson, the veteran fancy shot maker, attempted for the first time in public to make 1,000 caroms in five minutes. He is said to have succeeded in doing this once in private. Making 1,000 caroms means making 1,000 points at straight rail billiards.

He succeeded in making 922 points in five minutes. He will make another attempt to reach the 1,000 mark in the prescribed time either tonight or tomorrow night. Peterson holds the world's record of scoring 100 points in 27 seconds.

Harvard Husky "Hopes" In Yale Game Today

Here are the two men upon whom Harvard is depending to bear the burden of attack and defence against Yale, the game to be played at New Haven this afternoon. Horween is considered one of the greatest defensive players of years and it is probable that this season sees him at the zenith of his prowess. Harvard has been very quiet about Humphrey's ability this year, but he has been "there" like a Casey when the time came for him to show.

COLUMBIA CLUB HAS MANY STARS FOR BASKETBALL

Three Ex-Captains Of College Teams In America Among Candidates

The Columbia Country Club basketball team for 1920, which has just joined the Foreign League, threatens to be an Oriental "Golden Tornado."

No less than three former captains of American College teams are among the candidates for positions on the Columbia five to say nothing of several other veterans of the mesh basket who are far from out of the running for places.

The three ex-college leaders who are expected to be on the five when it finally takes the floor are V. S. Dawson, former Captain of Georgia Tech; J. K. Gold, one-time center and captain of Suwanee University; and R. B Nichols, former forward and Captain at Illinois College, which captured the Illini State championship while he was in college.

At a meeting held yesterday afternoon Mr. Nichols was elected permanent captain of the team for the season. The colors decided upon for the 1920 suits were old-gold jerseys, black knickers and stockings.

MANY OTHER STARS

Among others who are out for a place on the five—or at least the reserve list—are H. E. Marsden, former star at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point; T. C Britton, C. Smith, E. Meyerink, F. C. Noble and W. H. Wythe.

The candidates are practicing regularly and hard in anticipation of the opening games of the season, which are expected to start one week from tonight, provided the Schedule Committee completes its work in time.

The games of the Foreign League, in the main, will be played on the floor of the Shanghai Y.M.C.A., through the courtesy of Mr. Hoh of that organisation.

SERIOUS ILLNESS OF CORBETT RECALLS HIS FAMOUS FIGHTS WITH SULLIVAN AND JEFFRIES

Old-Timer Pictures "Gentleman Jim" When He First Appeared In New York Looking For Backers—How He Won And Lost Heavyweight Crown—What He Looks Like Today

Advices from America to the effect that James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion of the world, is again lying at the point of death from an organic disorder which has long affected him, calls to mind the following article about "Gentleman Jim," written some months ago by Charles F. Mathison for the New York Sun.

Mathison's pen-picture of the former champion was inspired at Madison Square Garden, where a number of sporting celebrities were assembled to witness a unique match between a German wrestler and a Japanese jiu-jitsu exponent.

"Seated near a neutral corner of the ring" says Mathison, "was James J. Corbett, once a wearer of the heavyweight crown, and justly conceded to be the cleverest heavyweight ever developed in America. Emerging from California's sunny clime just as the gap between London and Queensberry tactics was bridged, and at a time when John L. Sullivan was regarded as the monarch of all ring gladiators, Corbett by his amazing skill, speed and endurance created a veritable sensation, not to say panic.

With the necromancy of science he transformed veteran champions into novices, and leaped to the summit of pugilistic power in an incredibly short space of time.

DIDN'T LOOK THE PART

No one unaware of the identity of the man would have singled him out as a former great pugilist, and the transformation in his appearance was such that those who had seen him in the ring were surprised. The bristling pompadour that in his salad days rose menacingly above his brow has disappeared and his still black hair, parted in the center is brushed smoothly on his well shaped head. He carries himself with an air of easy self-possession and his attire is neat but not aggressive.

His whole appearance suggest a professional man, and no doubt his stage experience has had much to do with the change.

HIS FIGHTING DAYS

It is difficult to picture this man battling for sixty-one rounds with Peter Jackson, the most formidable black fighter in the history of the ring. It requires imagination to connect the Corbett of today with the dethronement of the mighty John L. Sullivan in the days when the Bostonian was regarded as invincible; and it is not easy to reconcile Corbett's present appearance with that of the lithe athlete who buffeted Jeffries, the grizzly of the boxing

'AMERICAN DAY' AT RACE CLUB TODAY

Events On Extra-Meet Card Named In Honor Of Yankee Localities

This will be "American Day" at the Race Club, on the occasion of the sixth extra meeting of the Shanghai Club for 1920. The meet will go forward, rain or shine, unless the course is positively dangerous.

The first event of the day will be "The Tennessee Hurdle Race," over a seven-furlong course. Next will come "The Kentucky Handicap Steeplechase" over the same course as The Grand National.

This will be followed by "The New York Cup," a three-quarter-mile scamper; which, in turn, will be succeeded by "The Boston Plate," at seven furlongs.

The fifth race will be "The California Stakes," a mile and a quarter; the sixth, "The Washington Handicap;" the seventh, "The Texas Handicap;" and the eighth, "The Virginia Cup."

A large attendance, both of Americans and other nationalities, is expected at the Course.

CAPT. BARRETT HERE SOON

Capt. E. I. M. Barrett, cricketer and all-round athlete extraordinary, is due back in Shanghai from his home leave in England the first week in December. This word was received locally yesterday afternoon.

Capt. Barrett made an enviable record in English cricket last Summer, being acclaimed one of the greatest players ever developed in the Far East.

Japanese Newspaper Answers Criticisms Of Visiting Pastors

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Osaka, Nov. 18.—Korean and Japanese Christian pastors, visiting Osaka and Kyoto are holding public meetings wherein speeches have been made on the necessity of an understanding between Korea and Japan. Commenting upon them the Asahi says:

"Regarding the enlightenment of the Koreans, what Korean pastor said, namely, that while Japan has contributed much materially and economically; she has contributed nothing spiritually, is worthy of the most serious attention. This criticism must be accepted regarding the militarist administration.

"Regarding the Korean administration, the point which must be remembered is that the administration must be for Korea herself. There is a tendency to make Korea a cat's-paw: we denounce this policy.

"We must contribute to the spiritual world with sincerity, remembering that what good we do is for the benefit of Korea and the Koreans, wherein lies our mission to civilisation."

Illness Of Corbett Recalls His Fights

ring, for twenty-three never-to-be-forgotten rounds.

But there he sat with a quizzical smile, watching the efforts of the Japanese to ensnare the wrestler and the attempts of the grappler to land with effect on his opponent. And as he looked and smiled and applauded memory went back to his fighting days.

HIS FIRST APPEARANCE

The young Californian first is seen walking the streets of New York in the torrid summer of 1892 seeking contributions for his side stake of $10,000 for "Jown L." the autocratic champion, declined to consider a match with the stripling unless he obtained $10,000 to post as a wager on the outcome of the battle.

Turnstiles were not fashionable in boxing clubs in those days and the receipts were usually so slender the fighters were compelled to depend for earnings on the money won in wagers. After a laborious search men were found to take what was considered a forlorn financial hope, for the youngster was not thought to have any more chance against the champion than a rabbit against a panther.

READY FOR THE BATTLE

The men who subscribed to the Corbett stake dedicated the money to sport and regarded it as good as lost before the boxers began to train. In substance the side stake was looked upon as a sacrifice on the altar of sport, for despite the youngster's assertions that he would surely defeat the great Sullivan, the devotees, of boxing accepted them as the overflow of youthful enthusiasm.

But, having complied with the demands of the champion, Corbett prepared himself for the struggle, and down by the ocean at Asbury Park he trained as never athlete trained before. It is not too strong a statement that Corbett when he left his quarters was the best conditioned specimen of physical perfection that ever responded to a timer's gong.

In his 178 pounds of bone and muscle was compressed the agility of a panther, the strength of a lion, the endurance of an ox and the fighting skill of a bull terrier.

AGAINST HEAVY ODDS

Yet the cohorts that trooped after Sullivan insisted on wagering 5 against 1 that the Californian never would hold the heavyweight scepter in his shapely, powerful hand.

Ready for the battle of his life, came the departure of the rival gladiators for the Crescent City where the bout was to take place.

Sullivan, confident that one blow from his mighty right would take all the championship aspirations from the youth, entrained to the blare of bands and the huzzahs of his supporters, hundreds of whom went South on the champion's train.

THE TWO JOURNEYS

There was no music when Corbett stepped on a train for the South, and except his able manager, Billy Brady, and a few friends the challenger was unattended.

The Sullivanic progress southward was a triumphal tour, and the jovial ceremonies continued up to the time that the champion and his youthful challenger entered the ring.

Then came a revulsion that caused the Sullivanites to stare in amazement as Corbett furnished proof that he was the marter of the veteran. When it became evident that Sullivan's crown was to be snatched from his head by the youth, the jaws of the champion's supporters dropped and thick gloom settled over the camp. Even Sullivan's declaration as he arose after being counted out that he was "glad an American won," was not much consolation to the idolators of the Boston Strong Boy.

FITZSIMMONS APPEARS

Then came a season of glorification of the new champion and enjoyment of the fruits of victory, which continued for five eventful years. It was during the period of Corbett's triumph that the freckled and formidable Fitzsimmons appeared on the pugilistic horizon, a menace to the title holder.

It was on a bleak March day in 1897 that the freckled fists of the lanky Cornishman divested Corbett of the honors he had wrested from Sullivan. It was on March 17 that Corbett lost his title, assuredly an inauspicious day for a Son of Erin to suffer defeat at the hands of a native of Great Britain.

But after all the turmoil of a hectic pugilistic career, Corbett, serene, philosophical, useful, can smile and applaud a jiu-jitsu exhibition, and express regret in a neat speech that Sullivan, from whom he won the championship, and Fitzsimmons, who defeated him for the title, were not present to enjoy the entertainment.

Shanghai Engineer In Hsuchowfu To Install Water Supply System

(China Press Correspondence)

Hsuchowfu, Ku., Nov. 15.—Hsuchowfu is growing! Witness these facts:

Mr. McGavin representing the Shanghai waterworks has been surveying the city with a view to putting in water works here. The contract is made, the money is deposited in the bank, and work will soon begin. Location of tanks and the choosing of a suitable manager to operate the plant when installed are still undecided questions. The wells and tanks, however, will be located somewhere in the south suburb, with mains running through the principal streets. It is expected that the works will be in operation by March.

PLAN BUS LINE

Contract has also been closed with Sutsien merchants for the purchase of Ford machines to operate a truck and bus line between Sutsien and Hsuchowfu, a distance of 240 li. Deposit money on the machines has already been paid Mr. Sam Woods, agent for Dodge and Seymour, who put the deal through.

Next fall there will be opened in Hsuchowfu the Third Provincial Normal School for Women. The First and Second are in Nanking and Soochow. Miss Yang of Soochow will come next fall to take charge of the school. The temporary quarters have not yet been settled upon but it is expected to open at that time.

FOOTBALL GAME

The Tenth Provincial Middle School and the Seventh Normal School recently played a football game. A boy from the Middle School had a little skin knocked off his head. His fellow-students were highly incensed at this barbarous treatment of player in this enlightened age. The result—they went on strike for a week; the Principal of the Normal School has now gone to Nanking to resign, and the Normal School boys are all temporary sent home. East is East!

Last week Chang Chi-chung, son of Honan's recent notorious Tuchun Chang Ching-yao, was arrested for selling and having in possession large quantities of opium. He was taken from the hotel in chains and his three cart-loads of baggage was seized. The amount of opium is said to be large, though exactly how great the quantity it hasn't been possible to ascertain. The fallen officer is now in prison and it is thought by the Chinese that he will be executed.

Adriatic Question Is Discussed By Belgrade Papers

(Reuter's Service)

Belgrade, Nov. 18.—The press of this city lays stress upon the fact that the solution of the Adriatic question will contribute to the consolidation of Jugo-Slavia. It also points out that the agreement is above all aimed against the re-establishment of the ancient Austro-Hungarian Empire and against the restoration of the Hapsburgs.

London, Nov. 15.—The Morning Post correspondent at Santa Margherita telegraphs that immediately after the signature of the Adriatic Treaty, the Italian and Jugo-Slav Governments signed a defensive Convention against the restoration of the Hapsburgs.

Tolstoi Memorial To Be Held Tonight By Russian Society

Tenth Anniversary Of Writer's Death To Be Observed With Suitable Program

Today is the tenth anniversary of the death of Leo Tolstoi, famous Russian writer and philosopher and as a memorial observance of the day the Russian Democratic Club has arranged a literary and musical program which will be held this evening in the Royal Adiatic Society lecture hall, 17 Museum Road. The program will be devoted to works dealing with the life and activities of the great Russian.

A full sized portrait of Tolstoi will be exhibited at the concert by the Russian painter Podguraky, who is now in Shanghai.

The program will start with Chopin's funeral march, to be played by Mr. Harry Ore, after which will follow a lecture in Russian on the "Life, Work and Death of Tolstoi," by Mr. N. Bodry: Beethoven's Kreutzer Sonata, by Messrs. V. Siroldo (violin) and Harry Ore (piano); a lecture on "Tolstoi as an Artist," by Mr. N. Novitsky; the reading of several sketches written by Tolstoi.

The program will close with the playing of Beethoven's funeral march combined with a melodeclamation which was written and dedicated to the memory of Tolstoi by a Russian poet, M. Diky.

The hall is to be specially decorated for the occasion and the memorial evening will be open not only to Club members but to all who are interested.

Dwelling Invaded By Armed Robbers

Two Chinese bandits, one armed with a revolver, forced an entrance into a dwelling occupied by a Chinese family at 67 Manila Road in the Siaza district about 11 o'clock last night and after terrorising the occupants of the house escaped with jewelry, clothing and other loot all valued at about $600. A report of the robbery together with a description of the two intruders was supplied to the police late last night.

Japanese Insist On Right To Redispatch Troops To Hungchun

(Staff Wire To The China Press)

Peking, Nov. 19.—The Japanese reply regarding the Hungchun affair has been drafted. It expresses pleasure that the terms of withdrawal of the Japanese troops have proven acceptable, with one exception, to the Chinese government, this exception being with reference to the Japanese right to re-dispatch troops to Hungchun in the event of a recurrence of trouble.

Japan notes China's attitude in the matter and hopes that no incident requiring a re-dispatching of troops will recur, but if it should occur Japan will certainly dispatch troops.

Japan asks China for particulars regarding the Chinese troops ordered to replace the Japanese in the Chientao district. She desires to know what type of troops are to be employed, in what number, the dates on which they will proceed and what positions they will take up. Japan to use this information in the planning of her withdrawal.

Irish Disorders Are Discussed By British Premier

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 15.—In the House of Commons, during question time, Mr. Lloyd George stated emphatically that every possible step was being taken to protect the police in Ireland. The Government was simply enforcing the law in Ireland and, he thought, was doing it successfully.

The police were suffering heavier casualties, he said, because they were no longer remaining in barracks as they had to do until the Government was ready two or three months ago, but were going all over the country, enforcing the law and therefore running greater risks, but there was overwhelming evidence that the power and authority of the law were being established throughout the country.

SHANGHAI CAUSES KOREAN TROUBLE, CHARGE BY SAITO

Japanese Progressing There Despite Insurgents, Says Governor General

That the Japanese government in Korea is progressing as rapidly as possible, and that stimulus for the revolutionist movements by natives there is given from sources in Vladivostok, Shanghai and Manchuria, were statements made by Admiral Saito, head of the Japanese government in Korea, at a meeting of the Seiyukai's Political Affairs Committee recently, according to the Japan Advertiser.

Governor General Saito, in telling of the work done there by his administration, mentioned the fact that hospitals had been established throughout the country at the rate of one for each province and that this number would be increased as soon as action now being considered by the Imperial Diet leaders, was taken up for final approval. Governor General Saito said that the Government authorities were paying the utmost attention to the education of the Koreans. As an instance, he said that arrangements were being pushed for the establishment of an education investigation association, an institution which was sanctioned at the last session of the Diet.

Discussing the situation created by the presence of insurgent Koreans, Governor General Saito explained that the anti-Japanese movements were directed from Manchuria, Chientao, Shanghai, and Vladivostok, where there were headquarters of these lawless Koreans.

Although Japanese troops are near Chientao, working for the extermination of the Korean insurgents, there is reason, the governor fears, that the accomplishment of such a task will not be effected completely.

Demands Of Kin Of Drowned Sailors Are Being Adjusted

Through the offices of one of the guilds the relatives of the Chinese drowned with the foundering of the steam schooner Wah Chang on November 4 off Shantung Promontory the question of compensation is being adjusted.

The relatives caused disturbances at the offices of the owner, on North Soochow Road, and those of the agents, on Hankow Road, Thursday, demanding more money than the $100 tendered by the owner. The owner stands firm by his offer and it is believed that the sum will be accepted without further protest, it having been pointed out by the mediators that there was no responsibility in the matter.

No further word of the missing captain and chief officer has been heard by the local agents and their death is accepted as a certainty. They left the ship in a longboat in which were also 26 Chinese sailors.

GROSS IS VICE CONSUL

Mr. Paul Gross, who has been a member of the American consular staff for the past two years, has been appointed a vice consul. This appointment brings the number of American vice consuls in Shanghai to six.

Greeks Plan Return Of Constantine

Greece, and staunch friend of the Allies.

The newspapers are alive to the seriousness of the position now created, and express the opinion that the French and British Governments will on no account permit ex-King Constantine to reascend the throne, though one Paris paper suggests that, in order to prevent Greece from being plunged into civil strife, Crown Prince George may be allowed to become King.

Meanwhile jubilation prevails in ex-King Constantine's camp at Lucerne, where the dethroned monarch has been inundated with congratulatory telegrams. His local partisans celebrated the victory in a cafe, drinking champagne and making speeches.

FINANCIAL PANIC

Athens, Nov. 17.—The chaotic situation due to the unexpected result of the election has caused a financial panic. The Bourse is closed, and also the banks, in consequence of the run for foreign drafts and gold.

BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE

London, Nov. 17.—Replying to a question by Mr. R. McNeill in the House of Commons today, Mr. Bonar Law stated that the responsibilities of France and Great Britain in regard to the protection of Greece under the treaties of 1832 and 1853 were renounced in the preamble to the Treaty of Sevres, and therefore France and Great Britain had at present a completely free hand in regard to the recall of any Greek sovereign.

It would, he added, be unwise to discuss at present the contingency of the recall of ex-King Constantine.

Replying to a further question by Lord Winterton, Mr. Bonar Law admitted that events in Greece might seriously affect the situation in Turkey, but a discussion of this matter would be very unwise at present.

Cantonese Retake Shiuhing, Report

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, Nov. 18.—The Cantonese army has recaptured Shiuhing, and the Kwangsi-ites are now retreating and concentrating on Wuchow.

Shiukwan has also been cleared on the Kwangsi-ites, and the Cantonese are controlling the situation.

The citizens disapprove of the attempt to oust the members of the Cheng Hsue Hui from Canton.

British Force Takes Bridge On Euphrates

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 15.—A Mesopotamia communique issued by the War Office states that the thirty-fourth brigade column, advancing from Samawa northwards, seized the bridge across the Euphrates at Imamadullah. Two hundred insurgents counter-attacked, but were driven off. The British casualties were over forty: the insurgents lost more heavily.

SENTENCE FOREIGNER

An unemployed foreigner, Stephan Korduk, appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday on charges of being drunk and disorderly on Broadway the night of November 18, damaging property in the Hongkew Police Station and assaulting a Chinese. He was sentenced to three weeks' imprisonment.

Jernigan Funeral Held At Nanking

In accordance with the wish of the late Mr. T. R. Jernigan his remains were laid to rest at Nanking at a funeral service held Thursday morning. Major C. P. Holcomb, United States District Attorney and Messrs. Stirling Fessenden and Paul Jernigan, who accompanied the remains from Shanghai to Nanking, returned yesterday. The grave of the former dean of the American bar in Shanghai is on a hillside that commands a sweeping view of the city below.

BIG DYE THEFT

Two shopkeepers appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday charged with receiving 510 pounds of indigo dyes which had been stolen from a godown at 131 Broadway on November 16. Seven coolies are also being held in connection with the theft. The case was remanded for one week.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LEFFA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."
A. F. PESLER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"For several years I recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD FARRISH, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."
J. A. PARKER, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

Hongkong Market

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor's weekly report dated November 12, has the following:

An Interport Cricket week in Hongkong and the November Race Meeting in Shanghai have combined to paralyse business since our last issue—and "nothing doing" best describes our share market.

The Rubber market is very depressed.

In Shanghai Cottons have been quieter due, no doubt, to a great extent to its being race week in Shanghai.

Hongkong Banks:—Are steady with sales at $655. In London Banks are quoted at £119 middle price.

Hongkong Lands:—Are wanted at $125.

Hotels:—Are nominal at $160.

Wharves:—Have buyers at $91½ with no sellers.

Hongkong Docks:—Are quiet at $152.

Deferred Indos:—Close with buyers at $176 Hongkong Register.

Cements:—Are very quiet with buyers offering $9.10.

London Quotations of 11th inst.:—Shells no sellers in London under £7.7.6 (Bearers). Anglo Egyptians "B" £8.11.3. Hongkong Banks £119 all middle price.

Exchange.—The demand selling rate on London is 3/11½ and the T.T. selling rate on Shanghai is 73½.

Developments In Siberia

WE have the following interesting communication from "Onlooker" whose earlier letter, dealing with the Russian situation we published and discussed in yesterday's issue of THE CHINA PRESS.

"Editor, THE CHINA PRESS,

"Dear Sir: At the risk of being deemed that type of bore who delights in arguments through the medium and magnanimity of long suffering editors, I am going to reply as briefly as facts will permit to your comments, and I think—queries—arising as a result of my letter to you.

"As touching the first paragraph, I merely wanted to give my opinion backed by a fairly close acquaintance with representative Russians—that the Bolsheviki are not aiming at India or indeed any new worlds, and here I am referring to the original Bolsheviki, if I may use the term. The misguided creatures of low mentality and entire lack of patriotism who are to be found in every country under the label of I.W.W. or some such organisation guaranteed to hamper progress, I do not consider worth referring to. If one pauses to consider, it will be seen that if Bolshevism is successful in covering the huge continent of Russia it will be sufficient to influence the rest of the world without the expenditure of arms and money, though personally I think that the granting of sufficient rope to the Lenin-Trotsky clique will lead to the proverbial and therefore most gratifying results. However, Omnia tempus revelat!

"To your second paragraph I cannot possibly worry you with an exigesis on the unfortunate results of Allied 'interference' in 1918-1919. The whole question is far too great to go into, even were I in a measure qualified. It requires a knowledge and a sympathetic knowledge of the Russian mind and an ability to act on that knowledge which has in the past only been the privilege of Germany. Therefore on the grounds of lack of space coupled with lack of competence I will leave this question alone.

"However you are misinformed on the subject of Japan refusing to get out when the others got out. Japan was requested to remain—the request being couched in no uncertain terms. Attaman Semenoff, a man whose bravery is unquestioned and who has done more damage among the 'Red' ranks than any other individual, had a very definite agreement with the Japanese and however one may hint at ulterior motives on the part of the latter, the fact remains that the only acknowledged anti-Bolshevik organisation unquestionably desired the continued occupation and support of the Japanese.

"You say the Others got out—they did! And the manner of that getting out was hardly of a nature to impress the connoisseur of matters military.

"The Hampshires left Ekaterinburg in June, 1919, two or three days before the women and children (to their credit be it said they were incensed at this). The Middlesex who were never more than a name—for anyone knowing Siberia as it was in 1918 knew that however earnest and keen men might be it was a physical impossibility for class C men, most of them martyrs to rheumatism, to carry out the program of even moral support. I suppose the War Office took into consideration their nom-de-guerre of 'Die Hards' when they decided on sending them to Siberia!

"The Italian troops left Krasnoyarsk in August, 1919, after a most unfortunate campaign, conducted most of the time in the cafes. When actually in the field they were under the eye and had the support of the 30th Division of the Czechs. The 27th Infantry of the U.S.A. had an equally pleasant time at Verkhne-Udinsk only the keenness of the O. C., Colonel Mara, standing between their fitness as soldiers and their resemblance to fatted calves, though of course vodka will keep a man fairly thin—vodka and an occasional misunderstanding with Attaman Semenoff in whose area they were camped.

"The Polish troops were enjoying themselves hugely in Novo-Nicoliaevsk, the last thing they desired being active service—or indeed anything savouring of strenuous life! When the crucial time came, in January 1920, I saw some fourteen thousand of these warriors hand over all their arms and equipment to about a hundred Red mounted infantry, who incidentally had ridden over a thousand versts to cut them off. They also handed over to the Reds their two bronnoviks (armored cars) Socol and Vershava in an obliging way! Oh, yes! the Allies got out—but I rather think the Allied history books will consider the Siberian fiasco too petty to refer to.

"When you consider, then, the pathetic finale to the Siberian fiasco, ought not the fact that Japan, of all the Allies, meant and stood by what they promised in the way of support, to weight when their present stand is considered?

"I repeat that to talk of ulterior motives is so much cant and hypocrisy for I consider that any nation expending men and money without wish definitely and materially to benefit is foolish—and really, as a matter of fact, it isn't done! The cry of 'starving' this and 'suffering' that is too often used as a cloak of hypocrisy to the lower motives of commercial aggrandisement and I for one cannot but admire any nation that frankly defines its price.

"In the last paragraph you use the words 'The Russian people ought to be allowed to set up the sort of government they themselves want!' And here you have introduced the whole crux of the matter, for the Russians do not know what they want and I have the sneaking idea that it is better for them to be forcibly inculcated (or fed) with ideas of government by the Allies, who at least lay claim to enlightenment than to be at the mercy of a few fanatical creatures who have coupled with their fanaticism the strength of character and the insight to take advantage of the ghastly apathy, that has been the longstanding curse of the nation as a whole.

"The whole situation in the East is more than serious—the mushroom republics that have sprung up on the hotbed of international jealousies are just so much more of a complication and menace to the future peace of the entire world. Yours truly,

"ONLOOKER."

In the editorial which brought forth "Onlooker's" first letter we dealt with the probability of greater activity in Siberia on the part of the Bolsheviki. Owing to the collapse of General Wrangel's army, and the peace with Poland, the Red armies are freed for operations on other fronts, and our contention was that they would turn their attention to Siberia, rather than to India.

Today's news seems to confirm this view. Lenin and Trotsky are taking full advantage of their victories and are proceeding to smother all opposition to the Soviet regime in Russia's eastern empire. The only opponents they have there among Russians are (or have been) the Vladivostok government and the Semenoff Government, backed by Japan.

The Vladivostok Government now has received its marching orders. It must dissolve or be overthrown. And Semenoff has been driven out of Siberia and into China. One dispatch says that the Moscow Government has notified China that its armies will cross into Chinese territory in order to complete the destruction of Semenoff's forces, and will retire when that work is accomplished. We should think that the Chinese government could forestall such action by interning Semenoff. And it ought also to be forceful enough to clear up the Urga fracas and thus prevent Bolshevist activities in that region.

Our correspondent asserts that the Japanese remained in Siberia at the request of Semenoff. There can be no dispute about that statement. Japan wanted a buffer state, and one way or another Japan got it. And she was enabled to do this largely by supporting Semenoff who was in the position of being in rebellion against the Soviet Government. Doubtless Semenoff would have been glad to see all of the Allies remain in Siberia. They were on his side. But they got out. And as we pointed out yesterday only Japan remained. The Japanese in turn did everything they could to bolster up the ridiculous buffer state—only in the end to see it go to pieces. It was only a makeshift—could only be a makeshift. But whatever it was, it has now vanished, and the Moscow government would now be able to see peace on all fronts, were it not for the continued presence of the Japanese in Siberia.

The Filipino Cause

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir.—My attention was called to a report that appeared in THE CHINA PRESS yesterday, that the Filipinos, generally speaking, are disappointed at the result of the Presidential election, and I hasten to inform your readers that the Filipinos cannot be disappointed on such an account because they believe that the citizens of the United States of America will never forget those that fought in the war of 1914, for the sake of justice, for the liberation of small nations and to safeguard the independence of weaker nations.

From those who deliberately fought in this great war we cannot but expect justice and they will surely give us due credit and do justice to our sacred cause.

Yours very truly,
D. P. de Tagle.

Shanghai, Nov. 19, 1920.

The cricketers who went away
To beat the Hongkong team,
Will all be back again today
Of pleasant times to dream.

But bats and stumps are put to sleep
The "hitters" now are "kickers"
And soccer men will shyly creep
About the field in knickers.

The football season has begun with a vengeance. We have heard rumors of a game here and there, but with the races, (the big races) over, and the interport struggles at an end, the Football League is having a look in. Today eighteen elevens; one hundred and ninety-eight players; or to put it another way, two hundred save two beknickered footballers will do their best to give the team each is playing for a couple of points on the League Table.

THE SOCCER SEASON IS HERE

(This is only the result of a dream probably brought about by having to find grounds for eighteen teams to play on.)

Oh, Torry's fair brow's abraded,
And Dickie Brandt's eye is black,
(With a dash of blue), and a tooth or two Does Bertes the goalie lack.

Oh, the Grecian nose of Sofoulis
Exhibits an outward twist,
And it's sad to see the artful slin,
That carries big Crookdake's wrist.

Oh, the swinging stride of our Jimmy
Swings less than it did of yore;
It's a swing, in fact, that will fail to act
While the poor chaps kneecap's sore.

Oh, speak to Brown of his "tendon
Achilles" and he will frown;
And the battered shin of the Oller, twin,
May anytime let him down.

Oh, drop a tear for the elbow
Of Forshaw, 'tis shameful for sure,
(You'll excuse the "Ohs" for this isn't prose
It strives for a poets lore.)

Oh, bring me the embrocation,
For I've badly sprained my thumb,
And my final "Oh-h-h" is enough to show
That the football season's come.

NOTHING TO LAUGH AT

A very irascible colonel came home from Australia carrying two Laughing Jackasses with him, which he was very anxious to bring to England. These animals were put in charge of a boy on board the boat, and one morning when the youngster went down to feed them as usual he found one dead.

This discovery upset him fearfully, because he was very frightened of the colonel. But at last, realising that the officer had got to be told, he went and knocked at the door of his cabin.

"Well?" snapped the colonel's voice from within. "What is it? Come in."

The boy entered tremblingly. "Please, sir," said he, "I've come to speak to you about those Laughing Jackasses of yours, sir."

"Well, well? What's the matter? Nothing wrong with them, I hope?"

"Well, no, sir," stammered the lad; "th—there ain't nothing wrong with them—except that one of 'em ain't got nothing to laugh at this morning."

The World And Japan

Reactions In The Eastern Kingdom To The Critical Attitude Assumed By The Other Powers

By JOHN FOORD
(New York Times)

Perhaps the most significant and certainly the least debatable aspect of the present situation in Eastern Asia is to be found in the fact that the Japanese are taking the place of the Germans as the most thoroughly disliked and distrusted people on the face of the earth. After much and various conversation during the last two months with Americans, Britishers and Chinese, all punctuated with abuse of Japan, it merely adds a new touch of hopelessness to the outlook to find my Japanese friends here so little disposed to give serious attention to the portentous implications of what is nothing short of an international judgment. Doubtless the statesmen of Japan have more than enough of domestic problems to engage their solicitude, for the profound discontent that has shaken the bases of all human society has not failed to make itself felt in Nippon. It is true that no profound change in the political or social structure of the empire has ever come from below, but the old docility in the temper of the mass of the Japanese people is rapidly disappearing, and its place is being taken by an assertiveness—quite the reverse of good-natured—that is not without its ominous suggestion. That, however, merely complicates, without changing, the essential character of the central problem of Japanese statesmanship—how to find profitable employment for the energy and resourcefulness of a people multiplying at a rate which has already overtaxed the available means of subsistence. If the problem has to be solved in the face of a hostile world, and in spite of bitter and uncompromising opposition from other nations, it may well defy any peaceful mode of settlement.

This sufficiently obvious fact explains why the perpetuation of anti-Japanese feeling is a constant challenge to war. Leaving out of the reckoning the despicable and frankly criminal forms of anti-Japanese propaganda—the deliberate cultivation of racial animosity for the most sordid personal and political ends—what may be called the international bill of indictment against the Japanese is a long one.

First, and chiefly, they behaved badly during the war. They gave countenance to the belief that they expected, if they did not desire, the Germans to win. They were certainly instant, in and out of season, in pre-empting Asiatic and South American markets that the Germans could no longer supply and from which other nations were temporarily debarred. But the main accusation against the Japanese merchants, railroads and shipping companies is that they took unfair means of making the most of their temporary advantage. They deliberately discriminated against the transportation of competing merchandise, and the evidence is too strong to leave any doubt about its validity that there was a systematic effort not only to delay the delivery of British and American imports into Eastern Asia, but to have them arrive at their destination in a damaged condition. All this may have been, and probably was, the work of a reckless and unscrupulous minority of the Japanese trading community, but the feeling that it engendered was very bitter and it rankles still. Add to this the system of preferential freight rates, which provoked the enactment of the Jones bill, and the apparent indisposition of Japanese steamship companies to adhere to any common agreement for uniform charges, which bade fair to precipitate a rate war on the Pacific that the Tokio conference is now striving to ward off, and there is more than enough to account for the irritation with which the commercial methods of Japan are regarded throughout the entire East.

Of course, back of all this there may be a feeling that the Japanese are becoming formidable competitors in foreign trade because of their low overhead expenses; because they are Japanese, in fact, and can conduct business as they conduct life—at a lower standard of cost than English or Americans. But when it comes to a question, say, of equipping China with the appliances of modern industrial activity the Japanese advantage in the cost of handling business really counts for very little. In fact, in spite of the marvelous things it has accomplished in the last twenty-five years, the mechanical capacity of the Japanese has some very distinct limitations. In a previous letter I gave the testimony of Mr. Geary of the General Electric Company as to his experience with the adaptiveness of the Japanese in the matter of electric lamp production. But in that case it must be observed that the ability to rise equal to new conditions is being constantly fed from the parent source. It is Schenectady that maintains the standard, not Tokio. There are cases where Tokio or Yokohama has undertaken to maintain the standard, without foreign assistance, which have turned out very much to the detriment of the enterprise. I imagine that the shares of the Tokio Electric Company are about as sound an investment as anything that the industrial world has to offer, but more than one large engineering concern here could be cited, the value of whose stock has promptly receded before the effort to make what may be called its Japonification complete.

Here is a phase of Japanese character that goes far to explain the unfavorable impression it makes on the unsympathetic outsider. It may be described as a habit of overconfident self-assertion, which frequently assumes very childish forms and which offends the foreigner very much in proportion as he may be similarly endowed. The Japanese destitution of humor has been noted by all observers, but the conjecture may be hazarded that comments on Japanese peculiarities would be less acrid were the humorous perceptions of the commentators more acute. The up-to-date young Japanese who goes abroad intent upon collecting useful information, who takes copious notes of the mechanical equipment and processes of the industrial plants he visits, and who, on his return home, solemnly deposits in the care of some appropriate bureau of his Government a bundle of fat memorandum books filled with totally useless information, is essentially a humorous product of his country and time, albeit serenely unconscious of the fact. The Anglo-Saxon, in like case, is consumed with a desire to publish his impressions—to lecture, to write, to make his newfound knowledge the theme of copious discourse to his fellow-citizens. Not so the Japanese. To them all these carefully recorded impressions are an offering to be laid on the altar of Nippon, for the increase of that knowledge which is power and the promotion of national ability to do what others have successfully achieved.

This Japanese characteristic assumes what is probably its most offensive form in the irritating methods of the petty officers of the national and municipal Governments. Inflated self-importance is apt to be the note of the minor officialdom of all nations, but, probably because of a latent assumption of race superiority, its Japanese manifestations arouse special resentment among Americans and Englishmen. It must be admitted, however, that in so simple a matter as passport inspection the Japanese police officers seem to take special pleasure in propounding absurd, irrelevant and sometimes insulting questions, for no other apparent purpose than to show off a very imperfect knowledge of English, and to impress the traveler with a sense of their importance. The airs of a Japanese Collector of Customs in a minor port are mirth-provoking or exasperating, according to the mood of the observer, and the time wasted in waiting for the tardy convenience of quarantine officials is a sore tax on the temper of the most good-humored of foreign travelers. The sum of such petty trials of the patience of the voyager has more to do than is commonly admitted in diffusing an unfavorable estimate of Japanese character. The root of the whole trouble is that, in small things as in great, the Japanese are absolutely lacking in even a partial ability to see themselves as others see them. Their friends have done them a dubious service in merely ringing the changes on the great qualities of rulers and people that have successfully bridged in fifty years a transition from feudalism to modern civilisation which took Europe 500 years to accomplish. In the five centuries of the European struggle for the broadening of individual rights and responsibilities there were developed, however, certain large human equities and minor social amenities that are still rudimentary among the Japanese.

A good deal of nonsense has been spoken and written about the subservience of the Government of Japanese to militaristic dictation. Deep down in the Japanese mind is the rooted conviction that the country owes the place it holds among the nations to its capacity for war. But for its military and naval victories there would have been no Japan as it exists today, and it is a natural corollary from that conclusion that there is no future for a Japan which does not possess a great army and a powerful fleet. It needs but a dim consciousness of the latent hostility of the rest of the world to assure complete national acquiescence in a policy whose central requirement is the maintenance of armed strength. Even were there no national ambitions aiming at territorial expansion, military preparedness would be a demonstrated condition precedent to keeping what is already Japanese. Militarism in Japan finds, in fact, its most powerful support in the fixed foreign attitude of suspicion and distrust and in the tacit assumption that any extension of Japanese influence—political, industrial or commercial—is a menace to the rest of the world. There can be no question that the military party has forced the hand of the Government of Japan on occasions when a display of generosity and magnanimity would have been of immense benefit to the nation. Japanese military men, and their sympathisers in the Government, like Japanese bankers and merchants, have had the fatal fault of sacrificing a great and lasting future advantage for a present and transitory gain. But the idea may as well be dismissed that in any essential line of policy the present Government of Japan is subject to militarist dictation, or that there is in the nation at large any feeling of resentment over the influence that the military party wields in the councils of the Empire.

It has suited the anti-Japanese propagandists to discuss in terms of lurid rhetorical exaggeration the danger of the Japanese penetration of China, and Young China has not been at all averse to making the most of that peril. This is a case where a little historical perspective is quite essential to any sane treatment of the subject. To people who know something of the slow, inscrutable processes that go to the making of history in the Far East, there is a certain tragic pathos in the Japanese essays at absorption and assimilation in China. Hence also there is a grotesque absurdity in the idea of a Japanese envelopment of China. Much the more probable event is the relegation of Japan to the position of the oyster which the star-fish envelops, shell and all, and digests at leisure. Much has been written about the investment of Japanese capital in China—the mortgaging to Japanese owners of Chinese mines, and the control by Japanese investors over the material resources of Manchuria. But it belongs to the irony of fate that the most noticeable results, immediate and proximate, of the employment of Japanese money in China is to make a stronger, more progressive and less dependent China that cordially dislikes Japan. In supporting Marshal Tuan and the Anfu-Anhui clique, Japan backed the wrong horse. But most of the money that these corrupt intriguers borrowed from Japan went into productive enterprises from which they expected to derive future profit. Nor was the equipment of the new industrial plants uniformly a source of advantage to the Japanese manufacturer. I have one notable case in mind in which money borrowed from Japan on the security of a locked-up aggregate of overissued notes of the Bank of Communications—a security that none but a Japanese banker would accept—was deposited in New York to pay for certain blast furnaces made in the United States.

Briefly, it is a Sisyphean task that confronts Japan in China. In the broad spaces of Manchuria, where rancheros and cowboys flourish, there is little or no place for the methods of the intensive culture of the Japanese farmer. In petty commerce the Chinaman is more than a match for the Japanese, in manual labor and in most handicrafts he is easily superior. The transformation which the Japanese have effected in the commercial quarter of Mukden is a very impressive testimony to their energy and enterprise. But it is energy and enterprise which, in the long run, may operate to their own undoing, as the vast, formless mass of China develops spines, nerves and central ganglia and becomes the greatest of the organised States of the world. Viewed in this way, the problem of Japan is one that calls for sympathetic treatment which shall exclude the elements of suspicion and dislike that now dominate the foreign attitude toward it. To persist in an obstinate disbelief of the good faith of Japan, to hold her statesmen as incapable of truth, her merchant as devoid of honesty and her people as a danger to their neighbors, is to make the preservation of the world's peace impossible. If other nations are to place the lowest possible estimate on the policy of Japan, her Government will perforce be compelled to live down to the accepted valuation of their methods and motives. Japan is an important part of the fabric of international comity, and without her frank adhesion to that larger scheme of human brotherhood which is the hope of humanity it must be wrecked in its very inception. On the other hand, there must be an equal readiness to admit the Japanese to the fellowship of nations without demanding a sacrifice of their dignity or self-respect. Japan is not alone among the allied Powers in having taken short-sighted views of her own interests and in having used the opportunity of success for purely selfish ends. If she is ready to make a new start on a higher plane, as all the declarations of her Government import, it is surely the path of wisdom to credit her with honest intentions and accept her assurances in good faith.

Curious Facts About The Sea Level And The Shape Of The Earth—How Irregularities In Surface Affect Gravity

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

"Kindly state the relation between the level of the sea and the equator. In a little dispute I stated that the equator is the imaginary line equally distant from the two poles, the level of the sea forming this line. If I am wrong kindly explain why any altitude is calculated from the level of the sea.—M. C."

You are right in thinking that the equator is a line encircling the earth half way between the poles, but wrong in supposing that the equator forms the base, called sea level, from which altitude is measured. If your supposition were correct the United States would lie several miles below sea level instead of from a few feet to several thousand feet above it.

The real starting point for altitude, if we consider the globe as a whole, is the earth's center of gravity, assumed to coincide nearly with its center of figure. Now the equator thus considered lies on the most elevated part of the earth, i. e., the part most distant from the center, and if its level were extended as a spherical surface all around the earth, the surface of the earth of itself would fall more and more below that level as the poles were approached, and at the actual poles it would be found about thirteen miles below the level of the equator. This results from the fact that the earth is not a true sphere, but is a slightly oblate spheroid, swollen around the equator and depressed about the poles.

OCEAN WATER AS BASE

But, for measurement of the altitudes of particular objects and places, situated at various points on the surface of the earth, we need some other point of beginning than the earth's center. Such a point, or rather base is furnished by the water of the oceans.

In consequence of the law of liquid pressure water under the action of gravity "seeks its level," i. e., keeps its free surface everywhere at right angles to the direction of gravity or the direction of the earth's center.

This being so, it is evident that the general level of the oceans, covering nearly three-quarters of the earth's surface, and intercommunicating, must form an excellent base for altitude measurement, because the surface of the oceans as a whole is symmetrically arranged around the center of gravity.

What we measure, then, when we ascertain the elevation of a table land, or a mountain peak, is the altitude above the level of the sea at corresponding latitude, but not the distance from the center of the earth.

This resembles thermometric measurement of temperature, where we choose a certain point on the thermometer scale that we call zero, which may be likened to sea-level, and make our measurements up and down from that point, instead of from absolute zero, which, like the earth's center, is unattainable to us, and for which, except in certain scientific caluiations, we have no use.

VARIATION OF SEA LEVEL

The general sea level spoken of above is conceived as a "mean," local and temporary irregularities being smoothed out, and it may vary a few feet one way or the other from the actual sea level at particular points. Such variations have several causes. One cause arises from the effects of tidal currents, or currents produced by steadily prevailing winds, an example of which is the Gulf Stream.

Mean sea level surface, imagined as cutting through the higher parts of the earth's solid surface and filling up the lower parts, has an ellipsoidal outline like the globe itself. But the solid surface, comprising the dry land and the sea bottoms, is somewhat irregular in detail, and does not exactly correspond with any geometrical figure. The principal cause of the ellipsoidal shape of the earth, flattened about the poles and expanded around the equator, is the centrifugal force of its rotation, and its general shape was probably assumed before it had become rigid by cooling. But owing to internal convulsions, risings, sinkings and contortions, and to differences of density, the outline has assumed stiffened forms difficult to trace, so that we do not know what the precise figure of the earth is.

And all the irregularities in the figure and the density of the solid globe have an effect, through gravitation, upon the actual form of the sea level surface. The centrifugal force makes that surface higher, i. e., more distant from the center of gravity at the equator than elsewhere, but unlike the solid surface this liquid surface is not broken by irregular elevations and depressions, but has a smooth outline, whence its use as a standard, or datum, plane.

SHAPE OF SOLID SURFACE

Many attempts have been made to form a probable theory of the actual shape of the earth's solid surface. One of the most successful is Lowthian Green's "tetrahedral theory." A regular tetrahedron is a solid having four equilateral triangular faces. If the pyramids of Egypt had triangular instead of square bases they would be tetrahedrons. Now, a tetrahedron is the body which contains the smallest volume for a given surface, while a sphere is the body which encloses the greatest volume for a given surface.

With these facts in mind, suppose the globe, originally molten, to contract after its surface had become rigid. The effect of the diminution of volume would be a tendency for the surface to assume a tetrahedral form. That the earth has slightly yielded to such a tendency is thought to be indicated by the traingular shapes of the continents as they stretch southward, and by the known position of the lines of weakness of the rock crust, which correspond with the situation of the edges of the naissant tetrahedron.

A Youthful Spender

BY DR. WM. A. McKEEVER

(Professor in the University of Kansas and an Authority on Child Training)

"Unfortunately our fourteen-year-old boy has fallen into the company of three extravagant associates and wants to spend money recklessly. We have tried hard to counsel with him and to make him see the folly of the spendthrift, but he seems to believe that his chums are right and we are wrong. In our despair we are about ready to send him to a military or disciplinary school of some kind. What do you recommend for this case?"

Many parents today who are keeping their boy out from among the common crowd in order to make him "good"—many of these. I find, are secretly bringing up a pale, hookish or "sissy" type of youth, who is in danger of never being able to mingle with the common run of men. And perhaps that is a worse misfortune than being a youthful spendthrift.

Try out some of these methods on your extravagant young son:

Have a private conference with the parents of the three chums and try to agree on a common scheme for curbing the extravagance of all four together.

As substitute for certain extravagant affairs of the group provide something similar and less expensive at home. Have you ever had your boy and his chums in to spend an hour or two at an informal good time in your own house? You will find it comparatively easy to lure them to your place at least once and away from some expensive "blow-out."

Now, here is the chance of a life-time. With never a word about extravagance and waste seek to become a happy companion of the four. Ask a string of questions about their light affairs. Take up the thread of the chatter and mix in happily with some jests and jokes of your own. Make it the gladdest hour the boys have spent in a year.

First love 'em; then, join 'em; save 'em—that is, the whole bunch. And your boy will be saved along with the rest. Do you see?

Hankow Chinese Editors Are Guests Of Japanese

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, November 13.—For the first time Japanese officials in Hankow entertained at dinner the editorial staffs of all Chinese newspapers in Hankow last Sunday evening for the sake of, as the hosts put it, "bringing together affections" and of "exchanging views."

The dinner took place at the Wan Kuo Chun Restaurant, where editors of 12 local Chinese daily newspapers attended the feast of the Japanese hosts. Japanese editors of the local Japanese newspapers, and the editorial staff of the Hukwang Hsin Pao, a Japanese daily published in Chinese, were also present. Besides the editors of China and Japan, there were present Commander Aopin Chintsa of the Japanese Barracks of Hankow, Mr. A. Segawa, Japanese Consul-General at Hankow, and a host of Japanese residents.

URGES CLOSER RELATIONS

Commander Chintsa made the opening address in Japanese with Mr. Hsiao Peh-hsin, editor of the Hukwang Hsin Pao acting as his interpreter. He emphasised the importance of closer and more friendly and cordial relations between China and Japan. He further stated that leaders of opinion in both countries should do the best they could to bring about a better understanding between the peoples of the two great neighboring states of the Far East.

Mr. Wong Pao-to, editor of the Public Opinion, responded to this address on behalf of the Chinese editors by saying that at the present time when the authorities of the Chinese government are far from being able to effectively protect foreign interests in Hankow, the methods on which the local Japanese Barracks are protecting their own interests in this commercial port are really admirable. For in doing this, said Mr. Wong, they are indirectly helping the Chinese Government in performing this important duty.

HELP ONE ANOTHER

Emphasising on the fact that Japanese and Chinese have similar language, are of the same race and are neighboring states, Mr. Wong went on to say that the peoples of the two countries should consider it their high duties to help each other under the present conditions and circumstances in the world. But, remarked Mr. Wong, they should try to meet each other with heart-felt sincerity and do all in their power to eliminate in their dealings fraudulence and coercion. In training troops each should keep in mind the example of the fall of Germany. In closing he said that it was their duty to promote cordial and friendly relations between the people of Japan and China. On the conclusion of his address he heartily drank to the health of the Japanese hosts.

CONSUL IS SPEAKER

Speaking in Japanese, Mr. Segawa, Japanese Consul-General, made a brief address near the end of the dinner. Mr. Segawa's speech was most impressive in the fact that he emphatically pointed out that both the Chinese and the Japanese should try to apprehend the real situation in which these two countries are now in. This is necessary, he said, to the existance of the two countries. Unless both are aware of their situation and relations, co-operation between the two peoples would not be brought about.

Dr. and Mrs. Dewey Talk At Nanchang

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanchang November 12.—Dr. John Dewey and Mrs. Dewey, now of Peking University, arrived this week from Hankow for a series of lectures in this city. Early last summer arrangements were made to welcome the noted teacher to Nanchang but owing to the oppressive heat the visit was cancelled. Therefore when he wired that he was coming a few days ago the educators, civil officials and students prepared a royal welcome for him.

Dr. and Mrs. Dewey lectured under the auspices of the Educational Society, and the Kiangsi Department of Education at the Hsun Chih Hui Kuan.

They were entertained at the home of Dr. Ida Kahn of the Women's and Children's Hospital. Welcome banquets which were given by chairman of the Educational Association, by the Educational Commissioner and by Dr. Kahn were attended by the leading civil officials, educators and some foreigners of the city.
